

LESSON 3

Not only ... but also (C1)

Meaning:

– Na faqat bunaqa, balki bunaqa ham

Example:

→ Adj = Adj

• Khusan teacher is not only intelligent but also very handsome

→ Noun = Noun

• Khusan Abdumuminov is not only an English teacher but also a successful businessman

→ Verb = Verb

• I not only teach English effectively but also I play chess professionally.

Speaking Part 1

Do you like living in a city or in a village?

— Well, I enjoy living in a big city because it not only offers good job opportunities, but also it allows me to do a lot of enjoyable activities. For example, sometimes I may go to restaurants, cafes and public parks.

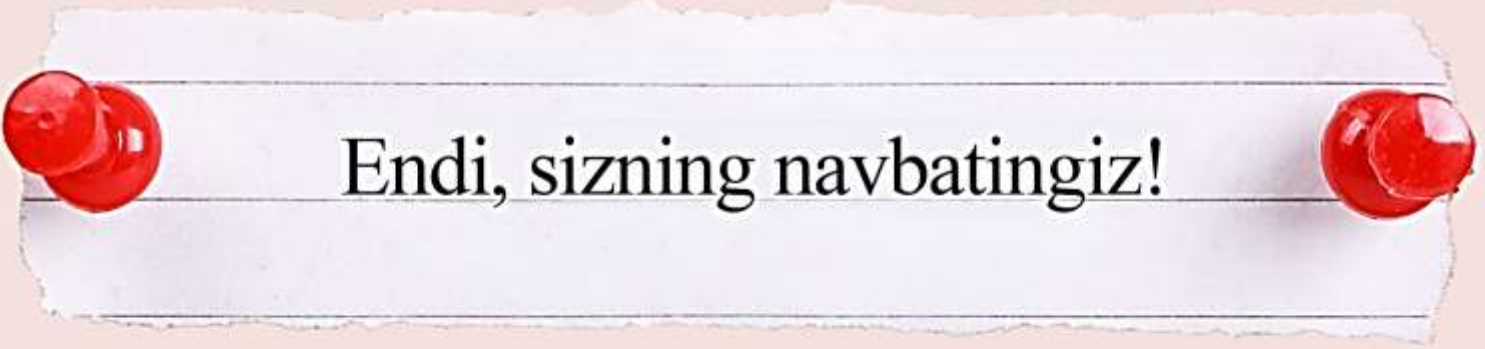

Do you like reading books?

— Yes, I do. I love reading books because I find it not only interesting but also educational. I can learn a lot of useful information and gain a lot of valuable knowledge from books. Yeah, I enjoy reading books.

A short real-life story

The person in the picture is Begzod Mirahmedov. He is well known in Uzbekistan, especially in the field of IELTS. He is the first Niner and also the first Uzbek IELTS examiner. I honestly respect him so much because he is not only a famous person but also a great influencer. He participated in many podcasts and gave great motivational speeches, helping students learn English better and faster.

Endi, sizning navbatingiz!

#Exercise:

Quyidagi gaplarni tarjima qiling!

1. Kino nafaqat qiziqarli, balki judayam foydali malumotlarga boy ham edi.

_____not only, _____but also_____

2. U nafaqat pianinoni zo'r chaladi, balkim zo'r qo'shiq ham kuylay oladi.

_____not only, _____but also_____